Teachers are constantly seeking ways to improve their teaching and thereby enhance the learning of their students. One method of doing this is to bring critical and creative thinking skills to the forefront of the curriculum. This has been emphasized by the Malaysian Ministry of Education via the KBSM syllabus in order to teach critical and creative thinking by considering the use of programs like Bloom's taxonomy of educational objectives in classroom practice. This study demonstrates how the higher-order skills can be integrated into the secondary school reading curriculum. The main aim of the study is to investigate how teachers design reading comprehension questions (RCQs) and reading comprehension tasks (RCTs) in relation to the demands of higher order thinking to produce students with critical minds it focuses primarily on the use of cogaff taxonomy a cognitive affective taxonomy adapted from bloom s and krathwohl s to formulate higher order reading questions and tasks as a means to develop critical and creative thinking skills in a pilot study in britain with forty malaysian teachers and in the main field study in malaysia 150 subjects teachers and student teachers have yielded about one thousand rcqs and one thousand rcts in line with many research findings of question and task design 91 2 of the rcqs and 83 6 of rcts produced during the pretest were of low order types subjects attended a workshop emphasizing question and task designing using the cogaff taxonomy dramatically during the posttest 74 4 of the rcqs and 80 6 of the rcts were transformed into higher order inferential forms the other major thrust of the study is to demonstrate how higher order questions can be used to design equally higher order tasks that can be utilized as a thinking skills approach in the teaching of reading comprehension lessons in secondary schools thinking tools this book is about designing instruction that makes comprehension the priority in reading and in content area study the comprehension model described responds to calls from literacy experts and professional organizations for inquiry based instruction that prepares readers to be active meaning makers who are adept at both critical and creative thinking comprehension first introduces a before during after comprehension problem solving cps process that helps readers ask key questions so they arrive at a substantial comprehension product big ideas based on themes and conclusions drawn from literary works and expository texts. The book further describes how to orchestrate research-based best practices to build lessons and units around big ideas and important questions in this age of multiple literacies. All of us must learn to be more nimble users of literacy 2.0 communication tools. Mastering problem solving is at the core of this challenge. Comprehension first embraces this challenge by inviting present and future teachers to examine why and how these tools can be used more purposefully to achieve the pre-eminent literacy goal of deep comprehension.

are you thinking of having your class read gary paulsen s novel hatchet do you need worksheets to assess students comprehension for each chapter if yes the mega 225 page novel study may be of help to you as a teacher i was reluctant to read hatchet to my class but changed my mind after reading the novel some students may love to read about characters having daring adventures in a wilderness setting. hatchet is a real page turner and will keep students wanting to read more when their other work is done. it is a canadian story about a thirteen year old boy who flies north to visit his father for the summer. he has a big secret and it affects him deeply. during the flight north something happens inside the bush plane and the protagonist is challenged to make a life defying decision. hatchet is truly a coming of age and bildungsroman novel. what happens to the main character will stir and stay with readers long after they finish the last page. this novel study carefully deconstructs each chapter and pulls from the text information that will cause students to think about their own lives in comparison. there are various types of questions that utilize howard gardner’s intelligences. prompt online internet research, stimulate classroom discussions, and encourage higher level learning. students learn to analyze, synthesize, and sift data by filling in the blanks, circling true or false questions, selecting from a multiple choice, or providing.
his/her personal opinion it is an excellent novel study for your upcoming term

emphasized by the malaysian ministry of education via the kbsm syllabus in order to teach critical and creative thinking by considering the use of programs like bloom's taxonomy of educational objectives in classroom practice this study demonstrates how the higher order skills can be integrated into the secondary school reading curriculum the main aim of the study is to investigate how teachers design reading comprehension questions rcqs and reading comprehension tasks rcts in relation to the demands of higher order thinking to produce students with critical minds it focuses primarily on the use of cogaff taxonomy a cognitive affective taxonomy adapted from bloom's and krathwohl's to formulate higher order reading questions and tasks as a means to develop critical and creative thinking skills in a pilot study in britain with forty malaysian teachers and in the main field study in malaysia 150 subjects teachers and student teachers have yielded about one thousand rcqs and one thousand rcts in line with many research findings of question and task design 91.2 of the rcqs and 83.6 of rcts produced during the pretest were of low order types subjects attended a workshop emphasizing question and task designing using the cogaff taxonomy dramatically during the posttest 74.4 of the rcqs and 80.6 of the rcts were transformed into higher order inferential forms the other major thrust of the study is to demonstrate how higher order questions can be used to design equally higher order tasks that can be utilized as a thinking skills approach in the teaching of reading comprehension lessons in secondary schools thinking tools and strategies as suggested by beyer guilford gardner and several others and their implications for the teaching of reading comprehension and training of teachers in malaysia are also discussed
