The story reaches out and grabs you by the throat dr. Clare Wright, historian and author of the forgotten rebels of Eureka, the facts are shocking, the treachery is chilling, the fallout ongoing. This edition contains a new author note with shocking new material that has come to light as a result of the groundbreaking original publication. Investigative journalist Frank Walker’s Maralinga is a must-read true story of the abuse of our servicemen, scientists treating the Australian population as lab rats, and politicians sacrificing their own people in the pursuit of power. During the Menzies era, with the blessing of the Prime Minister, the British government exploded twelve atomic bombs on Australian soil. RAAF pilots were ordered to fly into nuclear mushroom clouds, soldiers told to walk into radioactive ground zero. Sailors retrieved highly contaminated debris, none of them aware of the dangers they faced, but the betrayal didn’t end with these servicemen. Secret monitoring stations were set up around the country to measure radiation levels, and a clandestine decades-long project stole bones from dead babies to see how much fallout had contaminated their bodies. The grieving parents were never told this chilling exposé drawn from extensive research and interviews with surviving veterans reveals the betrayal of our troops and our country. An amazing tale utterly gripping, it reads like a thriller. Jon Faine, ABC Radio Melbourne, this book will contribute to a much greater awareness and perhaps much more action on this issue. Frank Kelly, ABC Radio National, Walker demonstrates powerfully why regardless of the context in which the testing took place, the emotional legacy of Maralinga will linger in the Australian psyche just as do Gallipoli, Bodyline, and Singapore. The cost in terms of damage to health, the environment, and public trust in government will remain with us for generations to come. Margaret Throsby, Midday Interview, ABC Classic FM, an extraordinary story. There are things here that would make your hair stand on end. Philip Clark, ABC Radio Canberra, this book should be on the school syllabus. Andrew O’Keefe, Weekend Sunrise.

Emu field is overshadowed by Maralinga, the larger and more prominent British atomic test site about 193 kilometres to the south. But Emu Field has its own secrets and the fact that it was largely forgotten makes it more intriguing. Only at Emu Field in October 1953 did a terrifying black mist speed across the land after an atomic bomb detonation, bringing death and sickness to Aboriginal populations in its path. Emu Field was difficult and inaccessible, so why did the British go there? When they knew that they wouldn’t stay what happened to the air force crew who flew through the atomic clouds? And why is Emu Field considered the Marie Celeste of atomic test sites abandoned quickly after the expense and effort of setting it up? Elizabeth Tynan, the award-winning author of Atomic Thunder: The Maralinga Story, reveals the story of a cataclysmic collision between an ancient Aboriginal land and the post-war Britain of Winston Churchill and his gung ho scientific advisor Frederick Lindemann. The presence of local Anangu people did not interfere with Churchill’s geopolitical aims and they are still paying the price. The British undertook Operation Totem at Emu Field under cover of extreme remoteness and secrecy, a shroud of mystery that continues to this day. A must-read to understand a cold war history; an arrogant officialdom and an unfathomable desecration of Aboriginal land.
